22 Americans Stand Firm In Refusal To Grant Interviews

Claim Allies Must Listen To S. Koreans

Panmunjom, Tuesday (AP)—Twenty-two Americans converted to communism stood firm today against listening to "come home" talks until their demands in behalf of pro-Red South Koreans are met.

The Americans and South Koreans are former prisoners of war now in neutral custody. They have refused repatriation.

Indian Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya personally appealed to the Americans today to listen to explanations on why they should return to their homeland.

But the Americans have insisted that the South Korean captives must be given time to make explanations to the Allied explanations.

The impasse has brought POW interviews to a standstill.

Thimayya visited the Americans in the forenoon.

Before he went to the camp, Thimayya said there was no reason to believe he could budge them when the mother of one apparently had failed.

That one — Pfc. Richard R. Tenneson — told his mother, Mrs. Portia Howe of Alden, Minn., he was not coming home. She had flown 7,000 miles to Tokyo in the hopes of getting him to change his mind, but he wrote her "It is impossible for me to live in the United States."

Thimayya told newsmen it was his opinion the Americans did not want the interviews and "it looks to me like the Americans might never be explained to."

The U. N. Command announced it had asked to explain tomorrow to "any prisoner, of any nationality" who would attend.

The command said it would be willing to spend the full eight hours allowed in making explanations. Captives have complained that the explanations periods were too short.

The Allied command previously had allotted only six hours daily for explanations.

The U. N. Command has said that if the 22 Americans have not requested repatriation by midnight, Dec. 23, they will be listed as absent without leave. However, they will still be in Indian custody for another 30 days and presumably can ask for repatriation any time during that period.

Reds Develop Rocket-Driven Interceptor

London, Tuesday, (AP)—Jane's All The World's Aircraft, unofficial but authoritative annual publication, said today Russia has developed a rocket-driven fighter plane to defend vital targets from fast, high altitude bombers.

Jane's also said the Soviet aircraft industry now has about 360 factories at its command, plus factories in some of its satellite countries.

The publication said the new Soviet interceptor is a single-seat monoplane powered by an improved version of the Walther rocket motor produced in Germany during World War II.

It is obviously aimed as a chief defense against strategic bombers which could attack key Russian centers with atomic bombs, such as the U. S. Air Force's B47s and the new B52s.

Jane's said the interceptor "is now being supplied in some numbers" to the Russian air force. Details of its performance, or even its name, have not leaked out. However, it is believed to have been inspired by the Messerschmitt 163 which Germany turned out near the end of World War II.

McCarthy Takes Swipe At Harvard

New York (AP)—Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) took a new sideswipe at Harvard University yesterday, calling it a sanctuary of "Fifth Amendment cases."

The Wisconsin senator also said he knew of at least 12 employees suspended as security or loyalty risks at Griffith Air Force Base at Rome, N. Y.

At Rome, Brig. Gen. Daniel C. Doubleday, base commander, said: "This is a continuing proposition. Any suspensions would have nothing to do with the McCarthy investigation. Any suspensions would result from standard security investigations."

Dulles Warns France To Ratify EDC Pact Or Face Withdrawal Of U.S. Army

Paris, (AP)—The United States bluntly told France yesterday it must ratify the European Defense Community Treaty within the next few months or risk withdrawal of American troops from the continent.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, speaking at a news conference, urged prompt ratification of EDC and said its failure would force Washington to make an "agonizing reappraisal" of its own basic policies toward Europe.

"We are not so much interested in getting German troops as we are in a situation in which the Western nations, especially France and Germany, will not commit suicide," he said.

"But if they decide to commit suicide, they may have to commit it alone."

Dulles addressed the newsmen after a plenary session of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization Council at which, according to persons in the hall, he made the same points to 13 other foreign ministers, including France's Georges Bidault.

Asked by the newsmen if the United States would pull its troops out of Europe if France rejects EDC, Dulles replied that the "disposition of our troops would, of course, be a factor in the agonizing reappraisal I spoke about."

He declared that Washington would not abandon or repudiate American obligations under the NATO alliance if EDC fails but that such an event would "involve a re-study" of how to implement those obligations.

He described EDC, with its provisions for French and German troops standing shoulder to shoulder in a unified army with the soldiers of six other countries, as a "significant symbol."

Nixon Finds Communists Failing To Create Hatred For U.S. In Asia, Mid-East

Washington, (AP)—Vice President Nixon returned yesterday from a 70-day global fact-finding, friend-making tour and said the Communists "are failing in intensive efforts to build up hatred for the United States" in Free Asia and the Middle East.

Instead, Nixon told newsmen, he found a "tremendous amount of basic goodwill and friendship for America among the great masses of the people" from Japan to Iran.

"On that solid foundation I am confident we can build a policy which will assure that we can have mutually beneficial and peaceful relations with those strategic nations," he said.

The Vice President and Mrs. Nixon landed here at 2 p.m., four hours late, at the end of a 45,389-mile journey to 19 foreign countries, and other key points from the Pacific to the Mediterranean. Nixon said in a brief talk at the airport that he was certain the speech President Eisenhower made before the United Nations last week, urging an international pool of atomic energy for peaceful purposes, "sounded a sympathetic cord in all the countries we visited."

If Communists reject Eisenhower's proposal, Nixon said, they "will lose tremendously among all the peoples of Asia who desperately want peace."

"This is trite but very true," he added, "we are very happy to be home, to see our children and our friends, and to look forward to a hamburger and a milkshake, and to enjoy the Christmas season."

After welcoming ceremonies at National Airport, Nixon went directly to the White House to give President Eisenhower a preliminary report on his conferences, as the President's personal envoy, with the leaders of over half a billion people.

The Vice President will give his first full-report on his trip to the National Security Council, possibly today. Whether he makes a radio-TV report to the nation will be decided by Eisenhower, Nixon said.

Dean in a briefing reply said the Communist note "now formally repeats the totally false charges" of perfidy against the United States which caused him to break off the talks. He added:

"I shall not be with you on Dec. 15, or at any other time until you make appropriate retraction or correction of this insult in a manner satisfactory to my government."

"I am leaving for the United States of America today to report to my government and to the other 15 nations of the United Nations contributing troops to the United Nations Command."

Dean's answer was released here after the envoy had left for Seoul to board a plane for the United States.

Dean had accused the Reds of charging repeatedly in Saturday's talks that the United States "connived" with South Korea in freeing 27,000 captured Communist soldiers last June.

The U. S. envoy in his reply today again called the charge "completely false."

Willing To Negotiate

Paris, (AP)—French official circles maintained silence yesterday as Ho Chi Minh, Communist-trained leader of the rebel Vietminh, repeated his declaration of willingness to negotiate an armistice in the seven-year-old Indo-Chinese war.

The committee also was told that singer Bing Crosby's name was used to promote a "National Kid's Day" collection without Crosby's permission, and that radio commentator Jimmy Fidler was one of the prime organizers of that particular drive.

Fidler apparently served without pay, the committee was told.

The "Kid's Day" foundation, according to testimony by committee counsel, raised nearly four million dollars from June, 1948, to June, 1953, but so far has spent only $302,000 promoting "National Kid's Day."

In Hollywood, President-organizer Jimmy Fidler of the "Na-

POW Writes Mother He Won't Return

Tokyo, (AP)—A heavy-hearted Minnesota mother bared to the world yesterday her soldier son's personal letter from a Korean prison camp refusing to come home, saying she hoped thus to convince people "how vicious a thing Communism is."

Then Mrs. Portia Howe sadly began preparations to fly back to Alden, Minn., either tomorrow or Saturday without Pfc. Richard R. Tenneson, her son by a previous marriage. She had flown out, hopeful of meeting him face to face but the Army would not let her go to Korea.

Mrs. Howe strove to keep a check on her emotions as she read aloud to newsmen in her Tokyo hotel room from Tenneson's two-page letter saying "it is impossible for me to live in the United States because I want to live as I wish."

The soldier wrote her he was staying with Communism because "I love peace, I love mankind."

He suggested sarcastically she had better take a loyalty oath after reading the letter lest she be brought before the House Un-American Activities Committee; that his stepfather now likely would be followed "by Gestapo FBI every time he went out to deliver chickens."

"It's a fantastic situation," the 43-year-old mother told newsmen. "Sooner or later Richard will wake up."

But meanwhile, she went on, "I want his whole letter released to the public. I think people should know how vicious a thing Communism is. If it can destroy a home, it can disintegrate a nation."

Caught in a whirlpool of emotions, Mrs. Howe was critical both of herself and her son.

But then again she pointed out flaws in his letter. She noted that the 20-year-old soldier wrote of knowing about "both peace and war in the United States."

"Why he was only 17," she said. "What does he know of life, and life in the United States? He was in combat seven weeks. What does he know of war? The whole argument falls apart."

Even so, she refused to give up hope.

"I have not given up my faith in God or Richard," she said.

Holt Indicted On Charges Of Killing Children

Steubenville, Ohio (AP)—A grand jury yesterday indicted hymn-singer Frank Holt on four charges of first-degree murder.

The jobless miner, charged with killing four of his children by bludgeoning them with a crowbar and stomping on them, will be arraigned Thursday before Common Pleas Judge Arthur L. Hooper.

A fifth child, another victim of the 34-year-old father, remains in serious condition at a Steubenville hospital.

County jail officials said Holt probably would be given sanity tests at Lima State Hospital after his arraignment.

Holt has been praying and singing hymns in his jail cell since his arrest last week. He told jail officials he tried to kill the children, ranging in age from one to six years, to "save them from the tortures and torments of the devil."

He said this was done because to get a license from the city welfare department the chapter had to show that expenses did not exceed 45 per cent.

The committee is probing what happens to money contributed by New Yorkers to charities, with a view to laws to curb such abuses. It heard an expert make an "informed guess" that nationally some 100 million dollars have been collected this year by rackets in the name of charity.

F. Emerson Andrews of Tenafly, N. J., director of philanthropic research for the Russell Sage Foundation, made the estimate. He said all charities and philanthropic organizations are expected to raise about four billion dollars this year.

Rifle Shell Fired Through AT&T Cable; Disrupts Phone, Teletype, Radio Service

An apparently disgusted buck deer hunter set off a chain of fireworks by firing his final shot Saturday afternoon, shortly before the 5 p.m. season closing.

Budd Van Horn, manager of the Stroudsburg Bell Telephone Co. office unraveled the unusual tale yesterday.

Van Horn figures the dejected hunter stood beneath a heavy cable of American Telephone and Telegraph Co., near Gouldsboro, at 4:20 p.m. Saturday and took aim at the cable—figuring to hit something before the season ended.

Here's what his shot did:

Tore through a lead casing one-eighth-inch thick. As the shell flattened out inside the cylinder, which is three inches in diameter, it broke the 220-pair cable, then forced its way through the other side of the lead protector, ripping a hole two or more inches in diameter.

It disrupted 150 toll circuits from Stroudsburg to Scranton.

Put two nation-wide radio network programs off the air for almost an hour.

Cut off reception and transmission of two teletype circuits, one of which was operated by State police in the area.

Caused 12 men to work from 4:20 p.m. Saturday until 7 a.m. Sunday repairing the line break. Shut off for an hour the Bell Company's facilities to Wilkes-Barre.

Forced loss of 40 percent of Bell Company's Stroudsburg to Scranton facilities, and 60 percent in the opposite direction.

Van Horn did not disclose the loss in dollars and cents to AT&T, but indicated it was exceptionally high.

"Unfortunately for us," the manager said, "it happened when the message load was light. If that guy had got mad at 7 a.m. we'd really have been in trouble."

Draft Board Summons 13 County Men

Thirteen men have been ordered by Selective Service Board 105 to report for induction into the Armed Forces Wednesday, Mrs. Beulah S. McConnell, chief clerk reported last night.

Inductees include Charles J. Driebe, William C. Marean, Earl P. Wann, Robert C. Ainspach and Eugene S. Willett, all of Stroudsburg; Lothar Schneider, Keith M. Edinger, Walter Burrier Fred J. Cramer and Robert T. Smith, all of East Stroudsburg.

Also, William C. Storch, Henryville; John V. Bush, Blakeslee, and Frederick W. Voelpe, Pottsville, Ill.

Joint Chiefs Base Strength On Air Power, A-Weapons

Washington (AP)—Adm. Arthur W. Radford yesterday drew a broad picture of America's armed forces in a world hovering between war and peace; heavy on air power and all-around atomic strength, and lighter on the use of men.

Such a force, the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff told the National Press Club, will grow out of the Pentagon's "new look" at the armed services.

Radford said the program is geared to the long haul, perhaps 10 or 20 years, and takes its "motif and tempo" from President Eisenhower's description of America's defense needs in a speech last April.

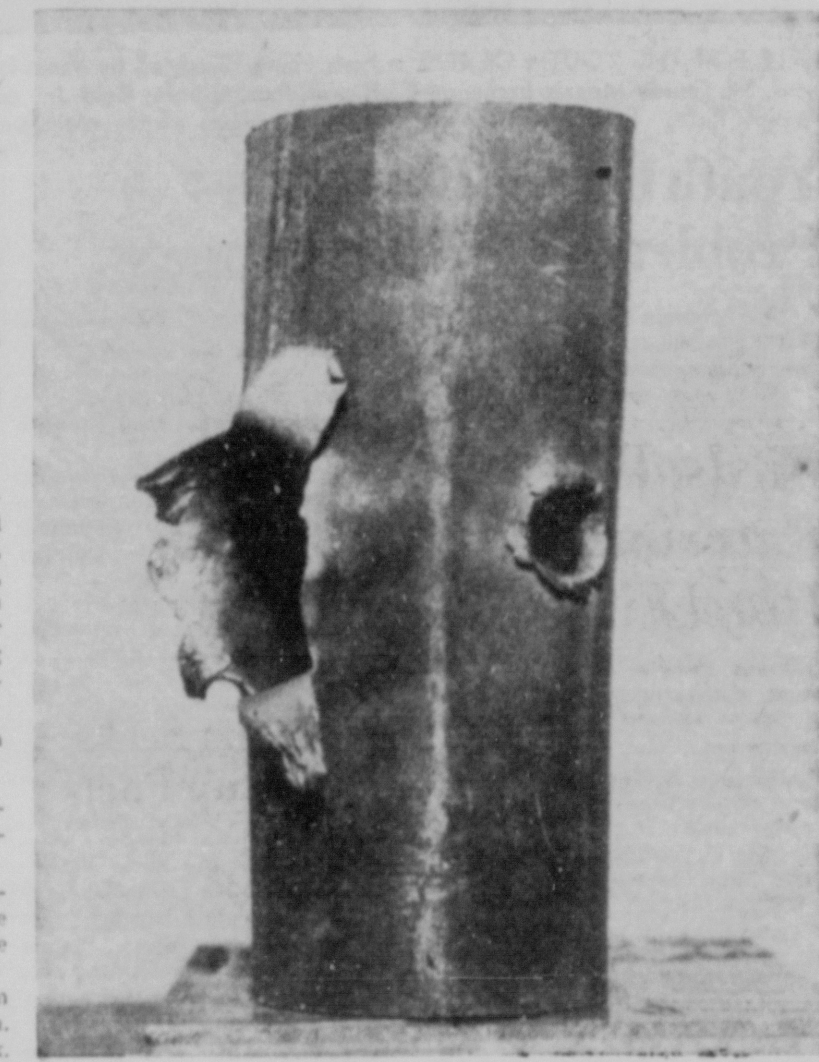

But for the immediate future, Radford said, the new joint chiefs have drawn up a program for the period ending June 30, 1957. The plan was orally presented to Eisenhower just before Secretary of Defense Wilson left last week for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization meeting in Paris.

Boy Gives Santa Money For Gifts

Hollis, Okla. (AP)—Seven-year-old Ronnie Masters is a little confused with all the talk concerning cost of living, depressions and recessions, so he isn't taking any chances about this Christmas.

RIFLE SHELL DID THIS—Forty minutes before the buck deer season closed Saturday, someone shot a bullet through a 220-pair AT&T cable near Gouldsboro. The shell ripped two holes in the lead casing and interrupted long-distance telephone, teletype and radio transmission circuits in the area. Work crews did not restore normal service until 7 a.m. Sunday. (Daily Record Photo)

The cable was a direct New York to Scranton line and AT&T crews from Scranton were called in on repairs.

Trouble spot was located almost immediately after the rifle shot was fired, and the entire line was traced within minutes to locate the break.

Once found, crews went to work—but the man who did the damage was somewhere hanging up his gun—quite disgusted because the day's hunting efforts went for naught.

A predicted heavy snowfall for the East was averted, the Weather Bureau said, by a warm air pocket over West Virginia.

However, wet snow in varying amounts did fall as far south as Birmingham, Ala., and Atlanta, Ga., with rain changing to snow in New England.

Showers were scattered over most of the remainder of the southeastern states, including Florida. The area around Jacksonville reported the heaviest fall. Some 2.75 inches of rainfall was recorded there over 24 hours.

An average of 1 to 2 inches of snow accumulated over Ohio, most of Indiana and northern Kentucky.

Another band of light snow extended over the Dakotas, with light showers in the northern Rockies.

Instead of the expected heavy snow yesterday afternoon and night, however, a steady rain fell swept through a major portion of Pennsylvania—accompanied by winds that promised to have a real bite if overnight temperatures dropped to the predicted low 30s and upper 20s.

Philadelphia reported the heaviest rainfall of yesterday's storm—2.08 inches over a 24-hour period, exceeding the city's average for the whole month of December.

Organized Haste Urged By President

Washington (AP)—A sharp dispute developed last night among some of the nation's mayors over what role the federal government should play in civil defense after President Eisenhower called on the cities to take up a considerable share of the burden of protecting themselves.

Eisenhower declared in opening a White House conference of mayors on national defense policies that the American city has moved into the front line of defense and that its protection no longer can be handled by the armed forces alone.

Mayor Joseph S. Clark Jr. of Philadelphia, one of the visiting chief executives, countered last night with an assertion civil defense will become "a dead duck" unless the administration takes the lead in dispelling public apathy and in providing funds.

Clark clashed on a television program with Civil Defense Administrator Val Peterson who said Eisenhower's position, like his own, is that the job primarily is one for the cities themselves.

Peterson also disagreed heatedly with Mayor Allan Pomeroy of Seattle, who charged there is a lack of coordination among the nation's leaders on public statements, and with Mayor Roy Hofheinz of Houston, who protested the secrecy with which the current mayors conference is surrounded.

Some 175 mayors of the nation's larger cities are attending the two-day conference, called by the President, and are being briefed by top administration defense planners behind closed doors.

Eisenhower, in his address to the conference, said civil defense depends essentially on the readiness of fire departments, hospital and health departments, police departments to handle their jobs.

For the federal government to enter this field would be "unwarranted interference" and, in fact, would be impossible, he said.

He promised, however, the federal government will do "everything that is reasonable, decent and proper in supporting the cities in meeting their own problems."

There is time to plan for a possible atomic attack, Eisenhower said, in a sensible fashion and without hysteria. But he said it probably would be impossible to exaggerate the need for proper planning under inspired and unafraid leadership.

The President added in his informal talk to the mayors:

"When a threat is not immediate with us, the ordinary American is not particularly anxious to get out and do a drill that he thinks has a little of the infantile about it. He possibly sees himself back in primary school, where he had drills, or evacuating the school room, in case of fire."

"But there was a very great principle there."

"Ordered haste will save you, and panic will destroy you. So it is, first of all, against the incidence of panic that we must be prepared."

Teachers See Opposition To Salary Boost

Harrisburg, (AP)—Pennsylvania's school teachers yesterday looked to opposition from "important organizations and powerful individuals" to any attempt to increase salaries in 1955.

The Pennsylvania State Education Assn. received a report which said the 1955 General Assembly session may be the "most important" in history.

"Unquestionably some important organizations and powerful individuals will continue working to decrease cost at both the state and local levels," the report said.

The report will come up for action at the PSEA convention here Dec. 28-30.

The group represents nearly all of the commonwealth's 62,000 teachers.

The PSEA sought a $200-a-year cost of living salary boost from the 1953 Legislature but ended up fighting to retain its present pay standards.

Prepared by the legislative committee of the PSEA, the report made no mention of 1955 salary goals but a program is expected to be set up during the coming year.

"Educational costs cannot be kept down when everything we buy costs us much more than before the war," the committee report said.

It asserted that continued improvements in salaries, facilities, materials and buildings are "musts" if there is to be a "good educational program."

Such a program is opposed, the committee report said, by groups "with no concern for, or interests in education."

"Some honestly believe Pennsylvania cannot afford a good educational system," it added.

Swink Explains Rule Giving Motorists Right-Of-Way

A request for information on "who has the right-of-way" at certain East Stroudsburg intersections, prompted Chief of Police Arthur Swink to make public his answers to the motoring public last night.

Chief Swink said he has received numerous inquiries, most of them pin-pointing the "Washington-St. Courtland Sts. intersection where there seems to be a question of which motorist is correct in proceeding in front of another vehicle."

The police head explained it this way: "When making a right turn you always have the right-of-way, but if you're going to turn left, then you're responsible in the event of an accident."

Taking the Washington-St. Courtland Sts. intersection as an example, Chief Swink said anyone traveling from Stroudsburg to East Stroudsburg and preparing to turn left into S. Courtland at East Stroudsburg National Bank corner, would not be in a position to claim right-of-way.

If, however, this same motorist wanted to turn right and head west on S. Courtland St. at that intersection, then the right-of-way would be his.

A motorist traveling from East Stroudsburg towards Stroudsburg would have the right-of-way at the bank corner if he was turning right from S. Courtland in Washington. If, however, the motorist was turning left there, into Washington, he would be at fault in the event of an accident.

Another letter received by the chief questioned why stop signs mean the motorist must come to a full stop. "This is hard on the car's shifting gears," the motorist writes.

"There's only one answer to that question," Swink said. "Laws were made to be enforced and stop signs have been placed at corners considered dangerous. If the corner wasn't hazardous there wouldn't be a stop sign there. And the sign reads 'Stop,' not slow up." Swink concluded.

will conduct services at 8 tonight at the funeral home. The noble grand urged all members to attend.

Survivors include her husband, Neldon Bentzoni; sisters, Mrs. Van Why, Mrs. Loretta Millazzo, Mrs. Hazel Henning and Mrs. Anna Kintz, all of Stroudsburg; a brother, Charles Resh, of East Stroudsburg; 18 grandchildren and 16 great grandchildren.

Dahl Insists He Knows Nothing Of $54,385 Theft

Paris, (AP)—Harold (Whitey) Dahl, American pilot whose wife once helped win his release from a Spanish death cell, insisted through his lawyer yesterday he did not steal $54,385 in gold bullion.

Dahl—who made headlines in 1937 when he was captured while flying for the Republican government in the Spanish Civil War—is being held in a French jail in connection with the disappearance of the gold from a Swiss plane he piloted.

Dahl's French attorney, Mrs. Louba Schirman, said the pilot did not even know the gold was aboard his plane. She quoted Dahl as saying he thought the bullion must have been taken from unguarded baggage rooms either in Paris or Geneva. The gold disappeared Oct. 6 between the two cities.

Baby Treated For Rat Bites Of Leg, Foot

A seven-month-old boy was treated for puncture wounds of the left lower leg and foot Sunday in the General Hospital dispensary.

Dr. George R. Farrell said the baby was bitten by a rat while he slept in his crib. Ten to 12 puncture wounds were inflicted on the child's leg and foot, the physician added.

Dr. Farrell administered tetanus shots and penicillin, and the baby was returned to the hospital yesterday for further treatment. He identified the child as Michael Rehm, 1196 W. Main St., Stroudsburg, and said the boy was brought to the dispensary about 4:30 p.m. Sunday.

Also treated Sunday was Eva M. Repsher, 205 S. Crystal St., East Stroudsburg. She suffered a fractured left wrist in a fall.

Treated Saturday were Mrs. Alice Rake, East Stroudsburg RD 2, and Philip Stucca, 380 Lincoln Ave., East Stroudsburg.

Mrs. Rake received severe burns of the fingers and palm of the right hand when she picked up a hot frying pan.

Stucca, a Patterson-Kelly Co. employe, was treated for an injury of the right fingers.

Milky Fantasy

Public resentment over the piling up of surplus butter and cheese in Government storage has been so great this year that even the dairy lobby was disturbed.

Apparently fearing that the current gravy train has not long to run, it asked for time to formulate a plan whereby the dairy industry would solve the surplus problem.

Now it has come up with what it calls the "self-help" plan.

According to the president of the National Milk Producers Federation, it will benefit both the dairy farmer and the consumer.

It may benefit the dairy farmer, right enough, but it behooves the consumer to read the fine print.

The plan would appear to place milk production under a "dairy stabilization board" composed of 15 dairymen, which would establish its own price-support levels and purchase any surpluses. Although the board would be put in business with a Government loan, it would pay its way with assessments on all milk and butterfat sold by farmers.

So far, it reads like a way to keep farmers from producing too much milk, since the greater the surpluses, the greater the assessments and the lesser the chances of a profit on the surplus.

But here's the kicker for the taxpayers. In any year in which there is a surplus, the Government must buy (1) a volume of domestic dairy products equivalent to the amount imported, and (2) a volume equal to whatever dairy production occurs on acreage newly diverted to dairying because of other acreage allotment programs.

This would give the dairymen a "closed shop" tighter than any labor union leader ever dreamed of, and place the Government's stamp of approval on it.

The plan clearly aims to keep out imports entirely—even though they are severely restricted already and have virtually no effect on domestic prices. The plan also would make it difficult, if not impossible, for anyone to go into dairy farming who is not in it already.

All that would be necessary to bring about those ends would be for the dairy farmers to see to it that there always is a little surplus. And that, to the people who have piled up the mountainous surpluses we have now, would be the easiest thing in the world.

The taxpayers will gain nothing if Congress simply substitutes one kind of economic foolishness for another.

The answer to the dairy surplus problem is to cut the Government supports down to a point where it will no longer be profitable to produce more than the market demands—or better yet, to cut them out entirely.

Where the Fires Are

Despite the exaggerated uproar in the European press about "book burning" in America, censorship or restriction of books in this country still is so rare that any instance of it is news.

All the classics of Communist literature may be bought by any American, or read free in most large libraries. We may subscribe to the Daily Worker and various other Communist publications.

In some cities Russian movies are shown. Russian music, modern as well as that of the Czarist era, is as popular as ever here, and anyone with a short-wave set may listen to Russian broadcasts.

Contrast this with the announcement from Bulgaria that its "waste paper" drive in public and private libraries has been so successful that all literature of the pre-Communist era has been destroyed. The entire contents of a 100-year-old library went to the paper mill.

Book-burning is an activity in which the Communists have demonstrated their superiority. If they had come along earlier in history, no doubt they would have invented it.

Robert S. Allen Reports

Hoover Calls For Legalized Wire-Tapping To Snare Spies

Washington — FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover has testified before another congressional committee, and made new disclosures about Communist activities in the U. S.

His principal revelations are:

A number of known Russian satellite spies are operating in the country, and they are under constant surveillance.

The American Communist Party has gone underground. Its membership is now around 21,000, from a one-time high of more than 100,000. The Reds have taken to using couriers as the chief means of communication and contact among themselves.

So far, 105 Communist officials have been indicted under the Smith Act, and a number of others are slated for similar prosecution.

No known Communist now holds an important government position. The FBI is investigating a small number of federal employees.

The famed head of the G-men also strongly advocated legalizing the use of wire-tapping evidence in espionage cases.

His second congressional appearance occurred last week and was secret.

Unlike Hoover's sensational public testimony on the Henry Dexter White case before the Senate Internal Security Committee, last week's proceedings were behind the closed doors of the House Appropriations Subcommittee in charge of the Justice Department's budget. The occasion was considered so important that it was attended by Rep. John Taber (R., N. Y.), chairman of the full Appropriations Committee.

The Fox Within—Primary purpose of the unannounced executive session was to discuss the new FBI budget.

Hoover has asked that it be slightly increased to $79,000,000, from the $77,000,000 for this fiscal year. The over-all Justice Department budget proposed by Attorney General Herbert Brownell would cut its funds to $173,000,000 from the current budget of $179,000,000. A large part of the $6,000,000 reduction would be taken from the Anti-Trust Division.

The subcommittee found Hoover's discussion of Communist operations and the FBI's unceasing fight against them so absorbing that the session lasted for nearly three hours.

During most of that time he talked extemporaneously. He gave a detailed account of FBI methods and the number of G-men now engaged in internal security work. The figure is considerable, but none of this information can be published. Cliff Clevenger (R., O.), chairman of the Subcommittee, brought out the disclosure regarding Red spies.

"Can you tell us whether any Russian or satellite espionage agents are now operating in the U. S.?" he asked.

"There are a number of them here," replied Hoover. "Their identity and activities are known to the FBI and are under constant surveillance. Some of these agents are members of embassies in Washington and consulates in other cities. We can watch them, but we can't prosecute them."

This and other subversive menaces were cited by the top G-man as stressing the urgent need for legalizing wire-tapping evidence.

He mentioned particularly the Judith Coplon case where such evidence was barred. Hoover also informed the subcommittee that the Justice Department is preparing to re-try the one-time Justice Department employee.

Hoover favored placing control of wire-tapping evidence in the hands of the attorney general rather than the federal judges.

The former is proposed in the bill sponsored by Attorney General Brownell, which was piggybacked by the House and Senate Judiciary Committee in the last session. A vigorous effort will be made to enact this legislation next year. Some members of Congress have endorsed legalizing wire-tapping but argue that control be placed in the federal courts.

Hoover told the subcommittee he sides with Brownell on the matter.

He explained the FBI has done wire-tapping for many years under many attorneys general and that the practice has worked out very satisfactorily.

"What about the Communist party in the U. S.," asked Clevenger.

"It's card-carrying membership is down to about one-fifth of what it used to be," said Hoover, "from more than 100,000 to around 21,000. That's a big drop. But it still considers the party a serious menace to the security of our country. We cannot let down our guard or ease up our surveillance for one moment. These people are a relentless and ruthless evil and danger."

Marxists Use Term 'Historical Necessity' To Confuse Many Who Are Anti-Communist

Words As Weapons

In the struggle for power, everything becomes a weapon—even words. Symbols and ideas, clothed in good or bad words, are planted in the minds of men and women and children. We say "Nazi" and a thousand images present themselves—the man with the funny mustache, the marching battalions, the murderous camps, a black page of history. The word, Nazi, is a bad word and will probably always remain bad, like hobgoblin or dragon.

Sometimes the phrase is not so clear. For instance, among intellectuals, "Historical Necessity," is a much debated term. It has, in a manner, been used to replace in their minds the theological term, God. The religious man will say that man is guided in life by Natural Law, the revealed law or "God. The Marxist also has a determining factor, "Historical Necessity," by which he explains that which has no explanation in morals as, for instance, the man-made famine in the Ukraine with its holocaust or the party purges with their whimsical murders. The theologian says, "It is God's will"; the Marxist says, "It is historical necessity." The theologian says that man lives morally by Natural Law; the Marxist says that man does what he must do because history requires that he do it. To a modern mind, the term "historical necessity" sounds modern. It sounds as though it really answers some questions while actually it only raises new ones. It satisfies the mind that wants to avoid responsibility for personal or public conduct. It is a way out until challenged.

The term, Marxist, is with some a good word and with others a bad word. Those who follow this new deity, Karl Marx, believe that he has the answer for everything: those who abhor this secular doctrine look upon it as an obscene disturbance of an orderly system of life that for at least 2,000 years has been of benefit to man. By using the phrase, "Historical Necessity," the Marxists have been able to clothe their ideas in language which many anti-Communists, particularly among those who are engaged in the physical and natural sciences, can accept.

Such a word as "McCarthyism" works its way into the language. Immediately it becomes a cause to be fought for or against. Senator McCarthy accepted it as a challenge after the word upon us. As a bad word, it has been made to include more than the personality or conduct of Senator McCarthy.

I have heard it repeated even by serious-minded persons that McCarthyism means an attack on Protestant churches. The fact is that Dr. J. B. Matthews never testified on this subject before the McCarthy Committee. The contention arose over an article in "The American Mercury," written and prepared for publication before Matthews joined the staff of the McCarthy Committee. Nevertheless, it has become associated with McCarthyism. A vast propaganda has been let loose to make McCarthyism a bad word.

Anti-Semitism is a bad word per se. It represents a negative concept of life, an opposition to human beings on narrow racial and religious grounds. Therefore whatever can be identified as anti-Semitic is bad. This word has been used to separate Jews from good friends. All Communists must be anti-Semitic because it is essential in Communism that God is a myth, religion an opiate, and any group separate from others on any basis but the class struggle should be suppressed. In the Soviet Empire, anti-Semitism is practiced as state and party policy.

Moral Rearmament is being fought because it rejects the class struggle and insists that only those who live moral lives can observe life from a moral standpoint. In this movement, man struggles with himself as Job did; if he can change himself into a morally guided person, he is likely to have a standard for conduct which comes not from the exaltation of man but guidance from God.

Here is a use of words as a weapon for positive living as an individual which differs from class dictatorship in the present phase of the Marxist revolution. Words as weapons are being used on all sides, like sown seeds. Sometimes they blossom into magnificent beauty; sometimes they grow into weeds that clutter our lives and fill the world with misconception and misery.

Stormy Weather Reduces Doe Kill On First Day Of Season

Few Hunters In Woods Yesterday

Doe day was a dud.

That was the consensus yesterday as the season opened with icy, wet, windy squalls blowing down the collars of the few hunters who went into the woods.

Game Protector John Doehling said a few doe were killed early in the morning but the rain and ice which drenched the dreary mountains put a period to hunting for the rest of the day.

Some 13 antlerless deer were bagged in the northern area. Biggest was a 140-pound doe killed by Marvin Akers, Greentown, who made his kill on Sugar Hill. An early hunter was Ray VanBenscoten, LaAnna, who got his doe at 7:30—an 80-pounder.

Monroe County was not alone in reporting few hunters in the field for the start of the two-day season.

Kills were light throughout the state and State Game Commission field representatives reported thousands of hunters drove to game sites but failed to leave their vehicles because of the weather.

Rain fell throughout most of the state and from two to three-inch coverings of snow blanketed some northern counties for several hours.

The snow soon was washed away in many of these areas by rain which fell later in the day.

In many sections of the commonwealth, the long and hard rains of the last two days made the forests and fields muddy and slippery.

Because of the condition of the outdoors some hunters passed up the first day in hopes that the weather will be more favorable tomorrow.

The game commission said it expected a large turnout today because many of the hunters who postponed their sport will go out tomorrow regardless of weather for their last try at a deer this season.

The U. S. Weather Bureau forecast snow in most sections today with lower temperatures.

Dr. Logan J. Bennett, executive director of the State Game Commission said, "The weather was just a bit too damp and chilly for many of the hunters."

"Although not too many hunters stalked deer today, we still expect the final kill to be fairly high after the season closes tomorrow," he said.

Dr. Bennett pointed out that the number of antlerless deer in the state this year in proportion to the number of hunters holding the special $1.15 licenses, in addition to regular hunting licenses is particularly good.

Last year 37,829 antlerless deer were reported taken but commission estimates put the kill at about 54,800 because many hunters do not report their kills.

There were slightly more than twice as many antlerless deer hunters licensed last year and hunting was legal for three days.

Bert Mackley, Reading, shot a 150-pound deer in the Blue Mountains about 10 minutes after the season opened. It was his 19th deer in as many seasons.

Meanwhile the commission said arrests of hunters for violations of the game laws "possibly will be slightly higher than last year."

Thomas F. Bell, chief of the Wildlife Protection Division, said "This year we have had a great number of hunters taking to the

G. Kochera Settles Suit For $6,750

Petition for settlement of a trespass action for $6,750 was granted in county court yesterday in a case involving a boy who walked into the side of a car.

The lad was George Kochera Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. George Kochera Sr., East Stroudsburg RD2.

Kochera sued on behalf of his son in his own right. Defendant was Fuel Gas Corp. and Morris Bernbaum.

Kochera petitioned the court to approve the settlement, which includes medical expenses and fees for attorney Forrest J. Mervine.

The petition was granted by President Judge Fred W. Davis. The accident occurred Aug. 30, 1951, on Route 209 at Marshalls Creek, the petition said.

Stevenson At U.N.

United Nations, N. Y. (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson, Democratic presidential candidate of last year, visited U. N. headquarters and was Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld's luncheon guest yesterday.

Fields and that in great part is responsible for the high arrest figures.

"On a ratio basis," he pointed out, "the number of arrests will not be any higher than in previous years if the pattern continues as it has."

Several large scale arrests were reported during the weekend.

In Huntingdon, five hunters were fined a total of $3,245 for illegal deer hunting and five West Virginians were arrested in Corry and assessed $1,800 in fines for violation of game laws.

Postoffices Add Extra Help To Speed Christmas Mail

Records are expected to topple at Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg postoffices in the next ten days as Christmas parcels and cards begin to mount by thousands daily.

Yesterday both postoffices sent extra carriers on the road to expedite delivery and today will begin the employment of clerks inside the buildings, and additional hiring of carriers.

Fred Rhodes, Stroudsburg postmaster said six carriers were added to the force yesterday. Today six more will be needed and by tomorrow the augmented force of 24 extra men will be working. Total includes eight working inside and 16 on carrier duty, the postmaster said.

In East Stroudsburg, Postmaster Norman B. Gregory said six carriers began work yesterday and others will be added today bringing the extra Christmas help to about 12 men.

Letters are being cancelled at the rate of 33,000 daily at present in both headquarters, and will increase as the Dec. 25 date draws nearer. Peak is expected to be reached late this week.

Last year, from Dec. 15 to Dec. 31 both postoffices handled 770,000 outgoing letters and Yule cards, marking a record for that period. This year the number of outgoing mail is expected to be even higher. Normal handling for the same period any other month would be about 150,000.

Stamp sales also are on the increase as expected. Last year both postoffices sold about $37,000 in stamps alone.

To keep up with the delivery both postal headquarters are expected to work right on through daily until all the mail in their building is delivered. Saturday instead of closing windows at 1 p. m. both will remain open until 6 to accommodate the public.

Experts Predict Plenty Of Meat

Chicago, (AP)—Farm experts attending a livestock conference took an optimistic view yesterday of the nation's cattle situation.

A rain spout brought firemen to the rear of 428 Main St., Stroudsburg, about 8:20 last night.

The spout fell or was blown from its position along the roof on the third floor. In falling it landed on some electric wires at the second floor level and shorted them. The wires arced and burned through, alarming some spectators who turned in an alarm.

Firemen removed the rest of the spouting. There was no fire damage.

Children And Home Theme Of Woman's Club Christmas

The Christmas meeting of the Stroudsburg Woman's Club was keyed to children and the home, featuring the music of the East Stroudsburg Elementary School chorus, a talk on "The Role of the Home in the World," by Rev. Ernest T. Campbell, and the club members' personal gifts to the Well-Baby Clinic.

The elementary school chorus, more than 40 voices strong, was under the direction of Miss Margaret Cramer with Mrs. Howard DeNike assisting. Their program opened with "Deck the Halls" and with the lighter side of Christmas in legend and song, the decorations, Santa Claus, and play time—leading gradually into the real meaning behind Christmas and climaxing with the tender "The Little King."

Jennett Cramer, Douglas Cooke and Jeanne Di Pietro were narrators and Carol Shafer, James Brooks, Dorothy May were soloists. Sarah Ann Wright served as pianist for one of the numbers, and there was part singing by selected groups from the chorus.

Linking the subject of his talk with the Christmas season, Mr. Campbell, pastor of the Stroudsburg Presbyterian Church, said that when God sent his gift to the world, it was as a child in the midst of a home. The home, he said, is the one place where man can escape the feeling of frustration, helpless to thwart the tragedy he can see approaching.

In the home, the individual still has control, he said, and there can be a bulwark of religion against a world gone secular.

"A secular world is not necessarily a wicked world," he said, "but it is not oriented to God." This knowledge and awareness of God is primarily the responsibility of the home not of the school or the church, he said.

"Ours is a Hebrew-Christian tradition which has always used the home as the unit of religious instruction, and it must remain the lap-rod."

"The home can also be an oasis of renewal in a world of stress," he said, quoting "America is an aspirin country," where enough aspirin is consumed each year to make 100 pills per person. This stress comes largely because "we are in arrears in our renewals." In the home, we can make a citadel of tranquility where every tired member can be restored, he said.

"We can also make in the home a laboratory of love in a world gone impersonal," he said, pointing to the number of ways in which a person can be contacted by number alone without anyone knowing or caring about his name or his personality, to the standardization of life.

Yet in the home every member can be loved warmly and for what he is, not what he does, he said.

"The home can be a bulwark of religion, an oasis of renewal and a laboratory of love, and if it is it can play the most important role in the world," he concluded.

Mrs. William Levering introduced the chorus and Mrs. Claude Leister the speaker.

The third feature of the program was the Christmas collection for the Well-Baby Clinic, sponsored by the club. Mrs. Parker Kunkle, in reporting on the clinic, said that since May, the clinic had cared for 237 babies and now had 100 registered on its rolls.

All of these babies have been invited to the annual Clinic Christmas party to be held this Wednesday from 1 to 3 p. m. at the Stroudsburg clinic. The collection, which amounted to $36.40 will be used to provide gifts for the Christmas party and to buy medicine through the year.

Mrs. Walter Caulfield presided at the business meeting when reports were given, and following the meeting tea was served from a Christmas table. Mrs. A. J. Harlaeher, Mrs. Frank Stackhouse, Mrs. Jerre H. Stofflet and Mrs. William Kraemer were chairmen of the hostess committee which also included Mrs. Russell Hamblin, Mrs. William Hannas, Mrs. Dettlef Hansen, Mrs. William Hawn, Mrs. Arthur L. ### Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

If you've reached the point where you think you're the busiest person in the world, I have news for you. Everybody thinks that she is the busiest person. But before you decide, consider these:

Marguerite Cramer and Dagny DeNike who were charged with getting 45 elementary school children from the school to the Stroud Community House in the midst of the rain yesterday. The children, of course, coming complete with overcoats, galoshes (which had to be taken off) mittens (which got lost), coats and hats (which do get tangled).

They were delightful, though. And they did look so angelic—skin with that transparent youngness—cheeks still childishly round—little mouths open in song like the picture of cherubs until they tried to find their arctics.

It always seems so foolish to cry when everybody's enjoying it so—but there were tears in many eyes, because—Well, for the same reason you cry at weddings, and get a lump in your throat when you hear a new born baby cry—because, I guess, there's so much of life they have yet to live and they look so unprepared.

But we were talking about busy people, which certainly would include the Business and Professional Woman's Club members who got roped into assembling those cookbooks last night in our business office. You never saw such activity. But if you lingered too long to watch, all of a sudden you were in there, too. Jean Lowry got dragged in and she's not even a member.

The Ann Logans were busy last night, too. Just enjoying themselves, for once, with no hand-ages to fold or anything—except a wonderful lot of Christmas cakes and cookies.

Music Groups Entertain E.S. Band Mothers

The East Stroudsburg Band Mothers held a Christmas party last night with songs by the mixed chorus of the high school, and carols to the music of a brass quartette from the high school band as their Christmas gift from the musical organizations of the school.

The Band Mothers, in turn, devoted the money which would have been used for an exchange of gifts between members as donations to the instrument fund for the band.

Mrs. David Bernbaum presided at the meeting and Mrs. Ralph Lesoine was chairman of the hostess committee.

Ann Logans Have Party, Story, Dance

The Ann Logan Society of the General Hospital rested on their laurels for one evening, devoting their program last night at the Stroudsburg Methodist Church largely to entertainment. Reports of the fruit cake committee (they sold 1,032 pounds) and of the birthday calendars (calendars are now on sale) told of Fall projects completed.

Mrs. Anna Meixell, president, was in charge of the business meeting. The program featured a reading "Christmas in the Heart" by Rachel Field, read by Mrs. Merlin Rutt, and angel and doll ballets by young Uta Meinecke, who has studied dance in one of the large opera houses in Germany, and is now a pupil in the fifth grade of the Stroudsburg school.

Members of the General Hospital Auxiliary were guests at the meeting which was followed by elaborate Christmas refreshments served by the hostesses. The women contributed $19 to CARE.

Today brings a letter from a woman who signs herself "Bitter." She says she is alone at Christmas. Her husband is gone, she has no children, and she's come to the conclusion that the entire observance is "much ado about nothing." Continuing, she writes, "I am sure you would feel just as I do if you had no one. Christmas for me will be another lonely day. I am an attractive, healthy specimen of discontented womanhood, and feel there is nothing more anyone can say on the subject."

This letter has saddened me somewhat, because it seems that the writer is just a wee bit provoked at me—and maybe everyone else—who happens to have a family, some Christmas packages, and a tree. That's too bad. In the first place, Christmas cannot possibly be "much ado about nothing" to any Christian. It is a tragedy that so very many of us—maybe even all of us—have come to regard this season primarily as a holiday. It is only by the merest chance that this is a time of parties and celebration. We presumably give because there was a manger once long ago, and in it a tiny, new-born King of whom the angels sang. The Wise Men brought Him gifts—and it is supposedly in HIS memory that we present gifts today. "Much ado about nothing?" CHRISTMAS?

Loneliness, I am told, can be a very heart-rendering thing. I am grateful never to have experienced it. But almost anyone can be lonely. It is a condition that creeps into the heart of a man or woman, whether he or she is alone in an invalid's bedroom or sitting in a crowded living room. Loneliness is an illness of the spirit. It is not a physical thing—and it comes to all of us who have learned only to live with others but not to live alone with ourselves.

I am, fortunately, easy to entertain. Any good, hood—any radio program—almost any movie, can amuse me for hours. So can my day dreams. To dress up and dine by myself; to go alone to a concert or a show has never bothered me. Sometimes I prefer it, and for this I am glad. It is an aptitude I hope to pass along to my children... it's never been a handicap, and in my old age it may prove a richer blessing than an endowment.

But the lady who wrote to me is not going to master this self-sufficiency within the next few days. So here are a few suggestions which may prove more practical: why not make overtures of friendship toward those who work with you? Isn't there someone in your office or business whose tastes are similar to your own? If you are strictly alone, why not treat yourself this Christmas to something you've always wanted—a short trip, a beautiful piece of jewelry perhaps, a fur coat, or some luxury you might not otherwise possess?

Why not contact Bobby Westbrook, the Daily Record social editor, and see if she cannot provide a list of clubs and civic organizations that would welcome anyone into membership, simply on the basis of similar interests? If you are a stranger, why not call Mrs. Mary Blair or Mrs. Earl Miller of The Welcome Wagon, and join one of their Newcomer Groups? And why not come into Wyckoff's to see me personally? I'm here every day all day, and I'd love a truly good excuse to sit down back in our Tea Room and share coffee and cookies.

Our store loves to make friends too—and I'll show you around any time you say. I can also introduce you to some ministers, who will welcome you into their churches and church groups. I know, loneliness? Just between us, it's nonexistent. It's just a nasty, miserable little word people dream up as an excuse for running away from other people who'd love to know them.

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

Boxing takes its place among sports invading the Pocono Mountains, or at least the training of professional fighters appears to be started on a permanent basis in the locality, with a half dozen musclemen going through their pre-fight paces at Harry's Farm, a spacious layout located approximately 12 miles above Columbia, N. J. Gene Tunney once trained in Stroudsburg and Billy Soose and Billy Janero worked out in the Lake Wallenpaupack area, but this is the first time in several years that we've had the leather pushers in our backyard.

Now Harry Freedman, the one of trucking fame from New Brunswick, N. J., has opened his spacious layout on the shores of the Delaware River to the pugilistic profession operating out of New York. Freedman, who also plays host to Rutgers University each August, as the latter goes through its training grind for the football campaign, is currently entertaining Paddy Young, Hein Ten Hoff, Joe Micelli, Clarence "Panama" Sampson and Tony Anthony. Dick Wagner was working out at Harry's Farm prior to last night's bout with Floyd Patterson.

Harry Stickevens, soft spoken manager who could easily be mistaken for a school teacher, is in charge of the camp that has all the earmarks of becoming a permanent fixture just slightly up and across the river from Fred Waring's famous Shawnee Inn. Stickevens is assisted by Nick Florio, the trainer who traveled almost the entire distance with former champ "Jersey Joe" Walcott. Paddy Young and the other fighters in training at Harry's spot rate Florio tops in his profession, but even the best in the business couldn't keep Walcott going against "Rocky" Marciano in the now famous Chicago bout.

Stickevens, who has been connected with the fight game since 1927, is still searching for his initial championship and thinks that Young may be the key to new fame and glory. Young is scheduled to tangle with well known Billy Graham in Madison Square Garden on Friday night. A victory for Young would greatly improve his chances of a shot at a middleweight crown. Likeable Young is friendly and jovial while not working at his new found training camp, but when it's time to work the husky better is all business. He's a determined workman, who would like nothing better than to defeat Graham.

Stickevens discovered the fine training camp qualities of Harry's place quite by accident, while searching for a pre-fight workout location. But it took the veteran fight observer only one quick look at the Delaware River location to cement the deal. It has everything any fighter, at least one interested in furthering his career, would like as far as conditioning is concerned. The air is as fresh as a youngster with an air rifle, there are miles upon miles of roads on which to run and the ring facilities are good now and will become excellent during the summer months when a ring can be constructed outside.

The training ring at the present time is located in a remodeled barn that truly is a marvel of construction. The "before" picture of the structure is one of a rundown building that apparently was well on its way to collapse. Now the structure is as sound as the Rock of Gibraltar and has three floors. The training ring is actually situated between two houses, both constructed inside the barn and so built that each contains its own attic. One house contains the dressing and rub down room and bed rooms.

On the second floor is located a dining room seating 60 people and a large kitchen, equipped with the type steaks that allow boxers to put on weight and gain strength, depending on what the diet problem might be. There is a lounge room on the same floor, with tables and chairs and a fireplace. Freedman has his private office just off the lounge, while overhead are located several guest rooms. The boxers actually don't have to leave the building if the weather is bad, if they wish to travel from their bed rooms or from the lounge room to the ring.

Harry's Farm is equipped with a three-hole golf course and frames for the Rutgers tackling dummies are still very much in evidence. Freedman has a large home and there are acres upon acres of beautiful grounds. Anyone wishing to watch the various fighters during their workouts are invited to attend and undoubtedly will be welcomed by two big, but very friendly, dogs. If the fight camp does become a permanent setup at Harry's Farm an outdoor ring will be constructed.

Stickevens' stable of fighters formally trained at Greenwood Lake, N. J., where Graham is currently working, but the veteran fighter is happier over his new quarters and hopeful that the Pocono Mountains can someday say that one of his champions trained here. Freedman is pleased with the current boxing setup, as he loves athletics, but the next move will be the formation of a bridge club—cards I mean.

Allentown—Parkland High rallied in the second half here at the Little Palestra last night to hang a 65-51 licking on East Stroudsburg, as both clubs came up with a pair of "firsts". It was the initial win for Parkland in the Lehigh-Northampton League and the first loss in the same circuit for the Cavaliers.

East Stroudsburg, paced by Co-Captain Don Herman and Bill Pensyl, held the upper hand through the first two periods and into the early portion of the third round before Parkland, loser to Fountain Hill, 57-56, in its opening tussle, found the range and moved in front to stay.

The Cavaliers, anxiously looking for their second win of the youthful season, to go with a single loss, jumped off to a 13-11 lead at the end of the first period and hung on through the second round to lead at halftime, 27-26, although outscored 15-14 in the second quarter. Parkland made its move early in the third quarter and went on to dominate the stanza, 18-10, and enter the final round on the long end of a 44-37 count. The host aggregation made certain of victory with a 21-14 bulge during the final eight minutes of action.

East Stroudsburg had trouble from the foul line, making good on only 18 of 31 attempts, while Parkland rang the bell from the same distance on 13 of 22 tries. Parkland held a firm 26-16 advantage in the field goal department.

Herman and Pensyl, the latter fouled out with two minutes remaining in the game, led the East Stroudsburg attack with 17 and 13 points respectively. Roth, with 26 tallies, and Helfrich, with 18, paced the winning offense.

Davis Cuppers Become Angry

Brisbane (AP) — If the American Davis Cup team "murders" the Belgians here this weekend and then goes on to do a job on the Australians the explanation should be simple.

The answer may be it doesn't pay to make the Yankees mad.

The Americans are boiling over the report that they are a champagne-guzzling bunch of party guys spending more time in tuxedos than in sweat suits.

The report was first published in a Melbourne paper and has got back to the home folks now.

"Naturally we were stung by such a report," said Bill Talbert, captain of the U.S. team.

"Then the report had a strange reaction on the boys. Their attitude has become one of grim determination to win and prove themselves."

Tacked up in the Yankees' modest dressing room at the Milton Courts here is a clipping of the article, which was headlined: "Yanks must pull up their socks for the Davis Cup."

Poconos Coast To Win Number Four In Blue Mountain Loop

Stroudsburg's basketball Poconos rolled to their fourth favorable Blue Mountain League decision in five outings by trouncing Belvidere, 67-38, at Stroudsburg High School last night.

The Poconos, in command of the game from start to finish, substituted freely throughout the battle, using a total of 11 men. The subs actually played more than most of the regulars.

Stroudsburg rolled to an 18-2 advantage at one time in the first period and finished the first round on the long end of an 18-8 count.

Small Crowd

A small crowd watched the home team edge Belvidere in the second round, 12-11, to assume a 30-19 advantage at the halfway mark.

The Poconos made certain of victory with a 17-10 edge in the third quarter and a wide 20-9 margin in the last round.

Harvey "Hotsey" Bergman led the Stroudsburg scoring parade with 15 points, while Jim Frailey, Henry "Hank" Stetler and Dave "Muscles" Everett chipped in with 15, 14, 12 and 11 counters respectively.

Frank's Barbers took the measure of Worthington Mower in the preliminary encounter, 52-36.

Three Cage Machines Fight For Top Spot

By Hugh Fullerton Jr.

New York, (AP)—Indiana, Kentucky and Duquesne, tabbed as this year's Big Three of college basketball before the season began, held on to the top positions in the national ratings in the first weekly Associated Press ranking poll yesterday.

With Indiana's NCAA champions at the top, these three teams kept their records clear of defeat through the past week and split up most of the first-place ballots of 78 sports writers and broadcasters participating in this week's poll.

Indiana brought its record up to 3-0 with a convincing 76-57 victory over Butler Saturday to hold its top rating. The Hoosiers, awarded the number one rating in last week's pre-season forecast poll, collected 35 of the 75 first-place votes and a total of 743 points on the usual basis of 10 for first place, nine for second, etc.

Kentucky, kept out of intercollegiate competition all last season and playing only two games so far this year, drew 20 first place votes and 621 points. Duquesne drew five firsts and 584 points.

Scramble
After the first three, nearly every team that has won a game this season, managed to do enough to attract the attention of at least one voter.

Kansas, losing its first two starts and La Salle failed to justify their high pre-season ratings and dropped far down the list while Illinois, Louisiana State and Minnesota moved up on the strength of unbeaten records.

The rest of the first 10 lined up this way: Illinois, Louisiana State, Minnesota, Oklahoma A. and M., North Carolina State, Fordham and Western Kentucky. That was a big change from last week's list which saw Oklahoma A. and M., Kansas, La Salle, North Carolina State, Kansas State, Illinois and LSU in that order after the first three.

Kansas, beaten by Tulane and LSU, dropped from fifth place to the also-ran rankings; La Salle went from sixth to 20th after losing to Niagara. The Oklahoma Aggies, losing to Minnesota by just one point, checked their drop at seventh place.

Minnesota's Gophers advanced from 12th place to sixth on that victory, just as Louisiana State's upward move was largely the result of beating Kansas. Fordham, which came from almost nowhere as the result of impressive victories over Yale and Princeton, and Western Kentucky, which just missed the first 10 on the first call-over, were this week's newcomers to the top group. Both are unbeaten so far this season.

Cohen Outpoints Tuli In Wild Bout

Manchester, England (AP)—Robert Cohen of France, the number one world bantamweight challenger, survived two knockdowns last night to win a blood splattered points decision over previously unbeaten Jake Tuli of South Africa.

Sluggest

Cohen floored Tuli, the top ranking flyweight hopeful, four times during the 10 round battle but was bleeding from both eyes when the struggle ended. Cohen weighed 117½ to 115 for Tuli.

Five Monroe County League Basketball Squads Take Part In Pre-Season Contests Tonight

All but one member of the Monroe County Basketball League swings into action in a pre-season contest tonight, with all preliminary games set for 7:15 p. m. and the main event approximately one hour later.

Barrett High and Greene-Dreher-Sterling are scheduled to clash on the latter's home court in Newfoundland. Greene-Dreher won an earlier meeting of the two clubs, 38-35, and the visiting charges of Coach Joe Murray will be looking for revenge tonight.

Greene-Dreher's record at the present time is three victories and one defeat, while Barrett is all even at one-and-one.

Pocono High, winner of one and loser of two games, will make its fourth appearance on the hardwood tonight against Chestnut Hill, at Brodheadsville.

Chestnut Hill dropped its lone outing thus far this season to Coolbaugh.

Polk High school will be searching for its initial win of the campaign, to go with four set-backs, when the charges of Coach Art Smith play host to the Le-highon Sports Shop, at Kresgeville.

Tobyhanna Township High, currently riding atop a streak of four straight Monroe County League court championships, tangles with the Stroudsburg junior varsity at Pocono Pines. The TTHS varsity battles the Stroudsburg Junior High quintet in the preliminary tussle.

Coolbaugh, sporting a mark of three wins and one defeat, is the only Monroe County League entry not scheduled for action tonight.

Bangor High Plays Host To Nazareth In Circuit Battle

Bangor—Bangor High will go in search of its initial basketball victory of the current campaign today when the Slaters play host to Nazareth in a Lehigh-Northampton League contest, here on the Bangor High court.

The junior varsity encounter is on the books for 6:30 p. m., while the varsity game will probably get under way at about 7:45 p. m.

Coach John Heard has made a shakeup in his starting lineup for tonight's contest and has hopes that it may give the Slaters the extra push needed for victory.

Heard said last night that he was very displeased with the number of shots and accuracy of shots taken by his pupils last Friday at East Stroudsburg.

New Lineups

The new Bangor lineup will feature Gary Wynne and Don Keat, a sophomore, at the forward spots, while towering George Voorhees handles the center duties once again. Wayne Pysher and Duane Miller will man the guard posts.

First line replacements will be Rodney Miller, Dale LaBar, Art "Bucky" Parsons and Frank Gleim. Tonight's contest will be the first Lehigh-Northampton League tussle of the current campaign for the Nazareth contingent.

Bangor has suffered setbacks at the hands of Slatington and East Stroudsburg in its own outings thus far this season.

Span

League action is scheduled to get underway on January 7 and the campaign will stretch out over a span of 12 weeks.

The first game each Thursday will get underway at 7:15 p. m., while the second battle will begin at approximately 8:30 p. m.

Entrance fee for each team is $35 and should be presented at the Monroe County YMCA offices, in the First Stroudsburg National Bank building as soon as possible. One team has already presented its entrance fee.

DeVivo plans to release the circuit schedule in the very near future.

Four Matches Listed On Agenda

Fesler Resigns As Head Football Coach At University Of Minnesota In Surprise Move

Minneapolis, CP—Wes Fesler, whose bid to restore University of Minnesota football teams to national stature was frustrated by ordinary material, unexpectedly resigned yesterday after three years as head coach.

Fesler, 44, and one-time head coach of Ohio State and Pittsburgh leaves Minnesota to become a partner, vice president and sports director of radio station WDGY in Minneapolis, an independent station.

It was the second time in the last four years the handsome former Ohio State athlete had abandoned coaching to enter private business. He resigned at Ohio State in 1950 for a brief fling in real estate a year after he led the Buckeyes to a Rose Bowl victory.

Fesler joined Minnesota in 1951 after famed Bernie Bierman gave up the ghost following a dismal 1950 season. Fesler's resignation becomes effective February 1.

A sensitive man upon whom the grind of big time coaching pressed hard, Fesler said in announcing his resignation he had become announced the resignation during the 1950 Big Ten winter meeting in Chicago. His acceptance of the Minnesota job a short time later came as a surprise.

He had been under no marked fan criticism even though his teams fell short of returning Minnesota to the pluck days of the 1930s and early 1940s when national and Big Ten championships were a matter of course.

His Minnesota teams finished eighth in 1951, tied for fourth in 1952 and tied for fifth in 1953. During that period they won 10, lost 13 and tied four. Fesler's team this season won four, lost four and tied one.

Athletic Director Ike Armstrong said no consideration had been given yet to a successor. The two men Minnesota supporters most urgently want, both Gopher alumni, seem out of reach. Minnesota would like either "Bud" Wilkinson of Oklahoma or "Biggie" Munn of Michigan State. But it is doubtful whether either could be induced to leave highly successful surroundings now.

Girl Going Home For Holidays After Three Years In Hospital With Yule Candle Burns

Baltimore, (AP)—Little Sara Lou Fox is going home to Hagerstown, Md., next Sunday for Christmas. She can hardly believe it. She keeps saying: "I'm going home for Christmas. I'm going home. I got my Christmas wish."

It is three years now since a candle set fire to Sara Lou's costume in a Christmas pageant at school. In a whoosh she was on fire like a torch.

She has been in the hospital ever since. It took 2½ years to heal the awful burns and graft on new skin from waist to neck. Sara Lou is 13 now.

Since last June, she has been at Children's Hospital School here. She had been in bed so long she could not walk. By early December, Sara Lou had done so well with her special training she could manage crutches.

The doctors told her if she kept improving she could go home for Christmas.

For Christmas, Mrs. Luther Hood and the other nurses on the floor gave her special help.

When Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Fox came down from Hagerstown next Sunday, as they have every Sunday, their little girl will be ready to go back with them.

"I hope people in Hagerstown will remember me," says Sara Lou.

Last year she got a hospital room full of presents from all over the country—400 Christmas cards in one day.

Around Hagerstown they do not use candles in Christmas pageants much any more. One church group banned them by formal action.

Lottery Urged To Determine Draft System

By Elton C. Fay

Washington (AP)—A presidential commission said yesterday a military training system and the draft can be operated simultaneously by using a lottery. This would determine who would get six months' training and who would be required to serve two years as a draftee.

The National Security Training of 100,000 18-year-olds, the number increasing as manpower availability and the size of the armed forces permit. The cost of training 100,000 men was calculated at about 270 million dollars.

The commission, in its first report in 1951, said at that time any form of universal military training could not be started while the Korean War was in progress, with its accompanying heavy levy on manpower.

Last August, after the truce, President Eisenhower asked for new recommendations on a training program while selective service continued, with view to creating a pool of trained reservists. They would be called, in another emergency, ahead of veterans of World War II and the Korean War.

The commission said selective service can operate the draft and training simultaneously as long as necessary. And then it noted:

"While selecting some men for six months' training and others for two years' service by lot would yield absolute equality of duty, it would correct the present unfairness to veterans. In event of emergency, men with six months' training would be recalled ahead of the veterans, and non-veterans as well as veterans would have a total eight-year military obligation."

"As long as inductions for service must continue, a perfect fairness is not possible, since selective standards for service continue to be necessary."

At another point, it said that "if absolute fairness in military policy means absolute equality of treatment, absolute fairness would be the adoption of universal military service, two years' service for all young men. If all able bodied young men were called for two years' service, the result would be standing armed forces much larger than the nation needs at this time—in other words, a waste of American manpower and money."

Last Friday, Secretary of Defense Wilson disclosed the draft call for next February would be cut to 18,000. This will be the lowest since June, 1952, and will compare with the 23,000 called up monthly since last July. Wilson told reporters, in answer to a question, that he thought the draft or "form" of it would have to continue. A lowered draft levy obviously could provide a greater pool of drawing youths into the military training program before they reach the 18½ year draft registration age.

Your Horoscope Today

By FRANCIS DRAKE

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 15, 1953
March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—Today you can get far if you work hard, think intelligently and forget self and personality in working out tasks. Go to the end of things; don't waste time, energy on non-essentials.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus)—Though your aspects have improved somewhat, you will have to cooperate and be harmonious in dealing with people to get ahead. Be enterprising in the heavy, irksome tasks, too.

May 21 to June 20 (Gemini)—Tend to your duties and don't yield to feelings of anxiety. Hypersensitivity should be avoided, too. Don't succumb to interruptions. Reasoners encourage conversation, which gives them new ideas.

June 21 to July 20 (Cancer)—Prospects brighter than you suppose. Be ready to jump in and do your best without faltering or flinching. Good nature and a kindly disposition are hard to resist.

July 21 to August 20 (Leo)—You are immensely popular, fun-loving, and like a joke. You get along with most but watch a tendency to be over-confident, too fearful. Irreducible to compromise, too fearful. Irreducible to compromise, too fearful. Irreducible to compromise, too fearful.

August 21 to September 20 (Virgo)—Your interest in business matters should progress satisfactorily, but you will have to concentrate. You are one who seldom blinks over the truth; don't be tempted by false promises.

September 21 to October 20 (Libra)—Make plans constructively and follow through consistently; left there be no belated ambition. With proper management, sensible manipulation of affairs, returns should be favorable. Humane rates.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name, the number of letters in 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6 add 2. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.
